Demonstration by Classes Monday Afternoon at Residence of Miss Corbett.

On Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the residence of Miss Fannie Corbett there was a demonstration of the Fletcher Music Method, by a class which has been studying through the winter. The following programme was observed: (1) Note Reading. (2) Knowledge of Keyboard, (a) finding position of notes on keyboard, (b) flats, sharps and naturals. (3) Scales, (a) major scales, (b) signature of scales, (c) triads. (4) Musical Block Drill. (5) Mental Division of Time. (6) Musical History. (7) Ear Training, (a) expression marks, (b) rythm.

"A little defeat now and then
"Is relished by the best of men."
—With apologies to the author.

But "a little" does not describe the measure of defeat by which we went down at both ends of the double-header with Newport News yesterday. It was crushing, it was horrible, it was enough to silence the average rooter for months to come. The Giants have simply struck a losing streak, such as will happen to the best of teams and the only deplorable feature of the tragedy, is that it came yesterday, when we were least able to stand it.

The first game was called at 10:30 o'clock and fortunately only about one hundred and fifty persons saw it. Foreman was in the box for the locals and the score was nine to nothing against them. Following so closely upon the shut out by one to nothing of the afternoon previous, it took all the starch out of Wilmington, and she followed it up in the afternoon with an adverse score of eight to one.

Of the morning game we shall speak first. Foreman allowed seven Shipbuilders a free pass to first, twelve hits and a score of other unlucky things that allowed Ashenback's boys to cross the rubber when they pleased. In the first inning he fanned Deisel, allowed Gilligan to walk, hit Foster and both of them scored on Ash's single. Ostein fanned and Weddige flew out to Warren. The Giants went out in batting order, and in the second Hempleman walked, was advanced by Curtis' sacrifice and scored on Deisel's single; Gilligan singled and Deisel scored on another single by Weddige. Devlin got the only safe hit for the Giants.

It was one, two, three order for both teams in the next four innings but in the seventh the Shipbuilders got in their deadly work for three more runs. Two men were down and Deisel singled and scored on Wolfe's two bagger; Wolfe scored on Weddige's single; Foster walked and Weddige scored on Ash's single. Old man Foster died going to third. There was nothing for the Giants. The eighth came on and two men were down, Curtis walked. Johnson walked and the first named scored on Deisel's single. One, two, three and the Giants were out.

In the ninth, two men were again down and Ashenback walked; Ostein got a single and another by Hempleman gave Ash a score. The Giants came up and made it nine goose eggs.

The Afternoon Game.

Inability to hit High at opportune times and rank umpiring is the tale of the second game yesterday. The game was called at 4:15 o'clock. For the Shipbuilders Gilligan got a pass and scored on Weddige's two base hit to centre. Clayton for the Giants drew four balls but "Davy" tried a fly bunt, was caught out and the "Kid" doubled at first; Stafford singled to centre but Sebring fanned. In the second Ostein singled and scored on Curtis' two base hit to right; High went to centre for two cushions, scoring Curtis. A double from Clayton to Crockett to Stafford did not permit more runs and Devlin, Warren and "Tacks" went out in their order for the Giants. A single by Foster, a sacrifice by Ash and two bags to centre for Ostein, gave the Builders another run in the third, while for Wilmington Clayton got an isolated single that did no good. In the fourth High went across on a single, sacrifice by Deisel, safe hit by Gilligan and a long fly to left by Weddige. The Giants did all but score in their half of the inning on Sebring's warm hit to pitch, Devlin's being hit by pitched ball and a single by Warren. The score, however, did not materialize, Warren having been caught at second with two men down. In the fifth a single by Foster and an error of Devlin gave the Shipbuilders another score. The Giants came up and "Thack" got a single; McGinnis fanned and Allen was hit by pitched ball. Clark, the umpire, called him out (as he said) because Allen hit at the ball. Allen was nearly paralyzed by the blow but when he got a scent of that decision, he jumped to his feet and rushed toward the umpire. A goodly number of Allen's friends from the bleacheries and grand stand went along with him, and would have made trouble for Mr. Clark but for the interference of several cool heads and half dozen or more policemen. The decision stood—it was rank enough to stand—and Clayton singled to right; Crockett fanned. Neither team could score in the sixth and seventh. In the eighth, Curtis went to right for two bags with two men down and scored on High's two bagger to right. The Giants saved themselves the ignominy of a shut out in that inning. Allen drew four balls and Clayton was hit and walked; Crockett flew out to second, and Stafford scored Allen on a two base hit to centre; Stafford stole second, but Sebring and Devlin were unable to get a hit. In the ninth, the Shipbuilders got another score on Weddige's single, Foster's sacrifice, Ash's promenade and O'Stein's hit for two bases to right. Hempleman and Curtis flew out. The Giants were unable to do anything further, and the score was eight to one.

"Where Thoughtful Melancholy Loves to Muse."

— That morning game was a stunner.

— Did you ever see the like? Well, hardly ever.

— They out batted us, out-pitched us and out-lucked us.

— Now isn't Capt. Ashenback a merry old crack a-jack?

— Even Ashenback admits that he is satisfied with a score of 9 to 0.

— The fight for the pennant is between the Giants and the Shipbuilders.

— The crowd at the first game was "small but select." And it was very sad, too.

— The occupation of the rooters and the rooteresses was like Othello's. It was clean "gone."

— The Shipbuilders played High game. The Giants played low. Was it seven-up or pitch?

— Can you believe it? At Newport News we broke even. Here, at home, we broke all to pieces.

— Vorhees will "go in" to-day for the Giants and Ashenback or Wolfe will be on the slab for the Ship Carpenters.

— The Giants suffered the most ignominious defeat yesterday they have ever had to face. But wait. "We'll see you later."

— The attendance in the forenoon was so small one could hardly see it. Those who did not witness the game are to be congratulated.

— Wanted — wanted — bad-wanted this very day—wanted this afternoon—a team that can and will beat Newport News. What say the Giants?

— "Leaves have their time to fall." Likewise ball teams in the percentage column. But we can't win all the time. At the end of next week there'll be another story.

— The horse editor was in the game. He appeared in the role of "The Knight of the Ruetul Countenance" and made a great hit. And hits, you know, were what we honed after.

— There was a vague suspicion yesterday that the aromatic odor peculiar to a state of decomposition pervaded the atmosphere in the vicinity of the umpire. But they do say that "even the devil is not as black as he is painted."

— Now this, received from the ornithological editor of the Raleigh Post last night, is the unkindest cut of all: "Wire me if need the Harveyized steel box before Raleigh's engagement. Better consult the pistorical committee at once if further umpire episodes are imminent. If it comes to the worst, Raleigh has an abundance of flowers for funerals. The Red Birds welcome you as percentage column neighbors."

AUDIT AND FINANCE BOARD.

Regular Semi-Monthly Meeting Last Night. Several Important Matters.

Chairman McQueen and all members were present at last night's regular semi-monthly meeting of the City Board of Audit and Finance.

Aldermen Maunder and Harriss appeared before the Board and asked for an appropriation for a salary for Mr. F. T. Skipper, who had been appointed clerk of the police court by Mayor Waddell. The Board adhered to its former action in allowing an appropriation for an extra sergeant upon the grounds that some member of the police department perform the duties of Clerk of the Court.

The tax ordinance as approved by the Aldermen was taken up, but action was deferred.

It was decided to have the meetings of the Board during the Summer at 3 o'clock in the afternoon instead of at night as heretofore, and the clerk was instructed to give the proper notice of the change.

THE SEWERAGE PROPOSITION.

Likely to be Sprung Upon Aldermen Again To-night—Permit Granted.

Mayor Waddell and Dr. C. T. Harper, city superintendent of health, have granted the Wilmington Sewerage Company a permit to begin work on the erection of a disposing plant between Thirteenth and Fourteenth and Bladen and Brunswick streets, in accordance with its plans recently approved by the Aldermen.

Already there is talk of an extra session of the Board of Aldermen for to-night, and as Alderman Bailey's proposition to reconsider the matter of the approval of the plan was deferred until the next meeting of the Board, it is expected that some lively proceedings are ahead.

AS TO "BROWNIE" FOREMAN.

Communicated.]

For a patient and long suffering public methinks the occasion is quite ripe to say to the management of the Wilmington Base Ball Association that the time has come for the unequivocal release of the much tooted "Brownie." Let the release be unconditional—we have naught to fear from him wherever he may go. He can clearly be classed as a "H. B." Interest, patronage and esprit de corps cannot but wane while he is with us, and in the meantime we are dispensing gratis one hundred "cold plunks." "The quality of mercy is (now) strained," and these wordsto the wise should be sufficient.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 5.

MAKING THE ISSUE CLEARCUT.

The late decisions by the Supreme Court by the bare majority of one on the most important case, makes the issue as to the acquisitions from Spain a more clearcut one than it was before. Up to the rendering of these decisions the issue was somewhat befogged because the expansionists never declared what their purpose was, what they intended to do with those islands or what the status of the people would be after American supremacy had been established. Now, however, we know because the Supreme Court by a majority of one has declared that these acquisitions, while belonging to the United States, are no part of the United States, but mere "appurtenances" to be governed and dealt with as Congress sees fit, absolutely, because there is nothing in the constitution ordaining how acquired territory must be governed. Therefore in the absence of such direction Congress is its own judge and the power absolute.

All the constitution says on this subject is that Congress shall have power to make all necessary rules and regulations for the government of such territory, but is silent as to what the rules and regulations shall be, but when it comes to speak of the taxing power it declares that taxation levied by Congress shall be uniform throughout the United States. It did not add "and territories," for the basic principle on which the the constitution was founded was that there should be no taxation without representation. Taxation without representatition was one of the causes of the uprising of the colonies against Great Britain and it is utterly absurd to suppose that men who believed in this as a fundamental principle of just government would ever have framed a constitution that would give them the right to ignore their own cherished principle and govern others as they refused to be governed themselves. The evident intention of the men who framed that constitution was that territory acquired by the United States was to be governed to all intents and purposes as the States were, that their people were to enjoy the privilege or, as they contended, the right of self-rule, and be in time admitted into the family of States, as nearly all the territory so far acquired has been, and as all on this continent eventually will be, although, to quote Justice White, some of it is inhabited by mixed races, differing from us in religion, manners, customs, etc. In the manner of governing our territories they have always been regarded as a part of the United States, and in all the time of the existence of the Government it never occurred to Congress to govern them by one rule—by an arbitrary rule, and govern the States by another rule; one absolute and responsible to nothing but the will of Congress, and the other limited and responsible to the constitution, from which Congress derives its power.

It remained for the Supreme Court, 114 years after the adoption of the constitution, and after territory enough had been organized into separate Territories to make thirty-three States, nearly three times as many as we originally had, to discover that Territories were appurtenances but not a part of the United States. That discovery would never have been made if it had not become expedient to draw the line so as to keep these new acquisitions in a condition that we could do with them as we saw fit, hereafter, and thus escape the necessity of treating them as we had treated our other territory. This is the inspiration of the monstrous doctrine that these acquisitions may be kept in an indefinite or perpetual state of vassalage, as Congress, in its absolute, despotic power, may elect. This is what the decision in the Downes case means, that Congress may hold these acquisitions in a perpetual state of dependence, call them colonies, territories, or anything, and govern them as it sees fit, not for any stated time but for all time. Of course this does not carry with it the contemplation of self rule at any time, but rule by such powers and such agencies as Congress may elect and that practically means rule by force, for where there is no self rule the alien rule must be backed by the power to make it respected and feared. In other words this means a despotism, because government in which the consent of the governed has no part, but in which force is the potent factor, is despotism, whether it be exercised by a Congress of the United States or by the Czar of Russia or the Sultan of Turkey.

That is the issue clean cut and defined now, not as to the establishment of our supremacy, which may have been disputed in the acquisitions from Spain, but whether this supremacy having been established the Congress of the United States may govern the people of these acquisitions entirely outside of the constitution and so govern them perpetually. This is the logical and only deduction from the dictum of the court because the advocates of the colonial idea contend that these people are incompetent for self rule, with very little probability that they ever will be competent. They are represented as semi-savages, while some of them are actually savages. The issue then is whether the colonial system is to be perpetuated, and this become a dual government, a Republic on this continent and a military despotism in the appurtenances in other parts of the world.

HUSTLING JAPAN.

A European writer, in discussing the trade movement of the future as it applies to the Far East, about which there is now so much talk, remarked that it was not Europe that America would have to compete with for that trade, but Japan, one of the most active, energetic and resourceful nations in the world. Within the past five years she has increased the capital invested in agricultural, commercial and industrial enterprises from $124,990,000 to $340,360,000, nearly three-fold. We point to the increase of capital in these industries in this country as a proof of the prosperity, and the spokesmen of the Republican party claim that it is the result of the policy of protection, expansion and all that kind of thing. To what, then, will they attribute this remarkable activity and branching out in Japan?

We have been somewhat overdoing things in this country and possibly they may have been doing that in Japan, but there are very few things which figure in the commerce of nations that this little sea-girt nation isn't giving attention to. She not only makes about everything necessary in her own economies, but is planning to become a competitor in many things which a few years ago were practically unknown as commercial factors in her business. Her people seem to be gifted with remarkable mechanical and structural talent, and they have all the necessary push and vim to fully profit by this gift, in this respect resembling the American, whom they have taken as a model, more than any other people in the world.

There are forty millions of people in Japan. The small proportion of the country that is fit for agriculture, and productive without much labor, will make it a manufacturing country as a matter of necessity, just as our New England States became manufacturing States as a matter of necessity. Her rulers understand this, her people who think understand it, and they are all moving in that direction with a steadiness and determination to go to the front in the commercial contest. They have both eyes on China, and have the important advantage of being closer to China than any of their competitors.

KILLING GRASS.

The farmers in the South have been working hard for some time killing grass, to prevent the grass from killing their cotton or other crops. Many of our State exchanges quote the farmers as saying that "the grass is taking what the floods have left." The active hustling to kill the grass leads one of the Georgia papers to remark that the farmers of that county are killing a crop which if permitted to grow and cut and baled would be worth more to them than all the cotton grown in the county and supports this assertion with the statement that more hay is imported into the county than the cotton crop sells for. The editor doubtless knew what he was talking about, and he was very likely making a statement that applies to other counties in Georgia, and no doubt to a good many in the cotton belt.

Of course grass must be killed to protect other crops, but a crop as valuable as grass ought to be nursed on every farm, for while troublesome when it disputes possession of fields planted in something else, it is the farmer's best friend, for it is not only a "money crop" as sure and even more profitable than cotton, but as a fertiliser and regenerator of exhausted lands it is invaluable. With this grass that grows so spontaneously, and gives the farmer so much trouble he would, if well managed, have a valuable money crop, and also an aid in increasing the fertility of his acres, and adding immensely to the value and enabling him to raise stock which would very materially increase his income while lessening his labor and the risk attending the "one crop" system. Grass culture ought to form part of the industry of every Southern farm.

LOVE

Lives only in the present. Nature throws a glamor around youth and maiden, so that although they saw misery and marriage walking hand in hand in every home in the world they would fondly believe that they could marry and defy misery.

Young women should be taught to prepare for marriage. They should understand how to preserve their womanly health through the functional changes of maternity. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most effective medicine for the preservation of womanly health and the cure of womanly diseases. It regulates the periods, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It prepares the womanly organism for maternity and makes the birth hour practically painless.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"My wife was afflicted with uterine trouble for several years," writes Mr. J. C. Day, of Little Britain, Lancaster Co., Pa., "and in November, 1898, the doctor said she had a miscarriage. He treated her for about two months or so, but there was but little improvement. I wrote you after she had commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' and you told us to get 'Golden Medical Discovery' also. She took six or seven bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and got out of bed and was able to attend to her household work."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness.

Lawyer Coudert, of New York, says the late decision of the Supreme Court decides that with States there is territory spelled with a big T and territory spelled with a little t. The little t territory is what it probably had in view as "appurtenances."

CURRENT COMMENT.

With a "five-to-four" vote in the Supreme Court on the Porto Rican tariff, and a "fifteen-to-fourteen" vote in the Cuban convention on the Platt amendment, the McKinley administration may be said to have won two marginal victories. —New Orleans Times-Democrat, Dem.

—— Attorney General Knox has been commissioned to draw up an explanation of the insular decisions of the Supreme Court for the guidance of the Administration. Incidently the chief law officer of this Government might perform a valuable public service by explaining the same to this bewildered nation and still more bewildered citizens, subject or "adjuncts" of the annexed islands.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

—— The growing use of oil as fuel by railways will give additional value and interest to the discoveries of petroleum in Texas, Louisiana, Missouri and other States. Experts state that the oil necessary to do the work heretofore done by a ton of coal costs $1 less than the coal. This means a very appreciable reduction in the operating expenses of railways, and should mean an increase of salary of the employees or a reduction of freight rates. It will probably mean only an increase in dividends to stockholders.—Richmond Dispatch, Dem.

—— Aguinaldo, it is asserted by the Manila New American, fell down when Arellano read to him those passages of the Philippine commission relating to the establishment of civil service and free schools in the islands. He declared that he would no longer hold out against the United States and serve the interests of his people. Aguinaldo is too quick on the trigger. He should have waited to see if civil service would have its head knocked in as has been its fate here at home; and also where the color line would be drawn in the schools. Aguinaldo was always impulsive.—Mobile Register, Dem.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." None should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store. †

— Charlotte Observer: L. A. Getty, manager and buyer for the Carolina Monazite Company, at Shelby, pays out monthly from $5,000 to $6,000 for the sand, and it all goes North. The monazite is gotten out of branches in Cleveland and Rutherford counties, mostly from the South Mountain branches.

— Tarboro Southerner: Farmers from every section of the county were here to-day and all complain of grass, but they admit that their condition could be much worse. —— Reidsville reports one of the most unique failures on record. A Hebrew merchant there set up in business a few weeks ago with a capital of $300. He has just failed for $78,000. He went into stocks on a small scale, sold short on Northern Pacific, and lost $77,700 that he didn't have. This is the other side of the speculation.

— Washington Progress: The suit brought by Mr. L. R. Mayo, Clerk of the Superior Court here against Marshal Dockery for $10,000 damages, has been remauded to the Superior court here for trial. The suit is based upon the fact that Mr. Dockery had the store and goods seized which had been purchased from Hoyt & Mitchell by Mr. Mayo. Mr. Dockery asked that the cause be removed to the Federal Court, but after the argument Judge Simonton sent it back here, stating that it was not a removable case. The case will be for trial at the next term of the court.

— Roxboro Courier: Last Wednesday morning was the heaviest rainfall ever seen in this section. In three hours and a half five and a half inches of water fell. It had been raining for several hours pretty steady but this downpour did the work. —— The damage to mill property in this county has been great, but it is small as compared to the damage to the farmers, both as to the growing crops and the land. Many bottoms which were the choicest parts of the farm are now almost worthless. We estimate the loss to the county not less than one hundred thousand dollars, some even going as high with the estimate as a million. —— Bill Cothran, son of W. D. Cothran, of Mt. Tirzah, was shot in Oxford on last Wednesday evening, from the effect of which he died on Thursday. From the best information we can gather it seems that Cothran and Andrew Wilson, both of whom worked in the buggy factory, had had a fight on Wednesday morning in which Cothran got the best of it. In the afternoon just as they stopped work the fight was renewed, Cothran again getting the best of it, when Wilson drew his pistol and shot him. Wilson was placed in jail.

WHY SKIPPERS LIKE DERELICTS.

Only Way For Sea Captains to Get Rich Nowadays.

"The highest ambition of a sea captain these days is to pick up deserted wrecks," declared an old skipper who arrived in port the other day. "It's the only chance he has to get rich."

"I'm the unluckiest dog alive," he added. "I've been to sea for nearly 40 years now and have never had the good fortune to run on a single wreck. That's the only way for us to make any money, you see.

"If a skipper can't haul into port one or two derelicts during his lifetime, he stands a fair show of dying poor as a church mouse. Even one good find will fix a man up fairly well, and two or three will settle him for life. I know several lucky dogs who haul in something in the way of a wreck once in every two or three years, but somehow I can't land any myself.

"Why, I spend half my time looking around the horizon to see if I can catch sight of a deserted vessel of some kind. Of course, I'd rather she'd be lodged fair and square on some sand bank, out of reach of the waves, but I wouldn't complain at finding her flat on the bottom, with nothing but the tip of her mainmast showing above the surface. Even then the salvage money would be worth having.

"How much a skipper gets out of a derelict depends on its condition, of course. If he hauls it into port practically uninjured, he gets a big pile of money, although the owners of his own vessel and two or three middlemen take a hand in dividing the spoils. But he gets something for just finding a wreck, and it doesn't make any difference what has happened to her or why she was deserted, just so long as the crew has left her. Their leaving makes her a derelict, and her owners have to pony up to the lucky cuss that finds her.

"Nowadays we skippers get low salaries and lots of work, and we don't often own shares in our ships, as the old time masters did. Yes, sir, our only chance is to pick up a wreck, and that's what we're all looking for."—New York Times.

BEATEN BY A REPORTER.

Newspaper Man's Revenge For Insults From a Candidate.

A good story and one with a moral is related by a well known southern writer.

"No great statesman with good hard horse sense ever went out of his way to offend a newspaper man," he says.

"Some years ago there was a very hot campaign in Georgia for a big office.

"In a distant city lived a candidate who was confident of election. He was proud and haughty and thought only of himself.

"A young newspaper man was detailed by the managing editor to accompany the statesman and report his speeches.

"Now comes the funny part of the story. The statesman ignored his companion—left him to take care of himself—introduced him to nobody—treated him without any consideration.

"Once when they were riding in a buggy through the country they stopped at a spring. The statesman cooled a bottle of wine in the spring and drank it all, without offering the journalist a drop.

"Then he helped himself to a cigar from his valise and resumed his seat in the buggy.

"'Drive on!' he said.

"The newspaper man hated and despised the cold blooded politician, but he had his work to do.

"He reported the speeches and campaign incidents, but in a quiet way he knifed the statesman. The big man read the reports and was conscious that something was lacking, but he could not tell exactly what.

"The newspaper man simply stuck to facts and damned the candidate with faint praise. He left out the element of enthusiasm. He was dull and deliberately so.

"The candidate was defeated, and he never knew how much the newspaper man had to do with it.

"Of course he did not dream that his own conduct had injured him. No mean man ever makes the discovery that he is mean."—New York Mail and Express.

Ingenious Tippling.

A most ingenious and laughable plan was that evolved by inmates at the Oneida county home to outwit the superintendent.

When they have hard colds, they are given a bottle of cough sirup, which is made at the home in large quantities, containing rum and molasses. One of the inmates devised a scheme whereby he could extract the rum from the molasses, so that he could get the rum out without contaminating his stomach with the molasses. He placed the bottle on the window sill in the sun and discovered that the molasses came to the top, leaving the rum at the bottom.

Procuring a straw at the barn, he inserted it in the bottle below the molasses and proceeded to drink the rum from the bottom of the bottle.—Utica (N. Y.) Observer.

Joke on Dean Swift.

It is characteristic of those who are severe on others that they cannot bear severity. Dean Swift, the severest satirist of his day, was one day dining with a company of gentlemen, one of whom he had made the butt of his ridicule, with repeated sallies. At last the dean poured upon a piece of duck some gravy intended to be eaten with a roasted goose. The unfortunate gentleman, seeing this, immediately said: "My good dean, you surprise me. You eat a duck like a goose."

The company roared, and the poor dean was so confused and mortified that he flew into a rage and left the table.

Sarcastic.

A French journal reports a certain unpopular and tiresome author as saying to an acquaintance:

"I should like to do something which no one has ever done before and which no one will ever do again."

"Easy enough," said the acquaintance.

"But what shall I do?"

"Write a favorable notice of one of your books."

NEW YORK, June 4—Near month shorts in all speculative markets met with sharp reverses to day and were very uneasy at the close, fearing a possible repetition of the upward movement again to-morrow. Liverpool was the first to show strength in July and August, prices advancing rapidly on heavy general buying led by shorts, started by reports that the big shipments from the South to New York for delivery on contract meant reduced shipments from the South to Europe and a consequent decrease in the European visible supply during the next four weeks or more. The local market opened steady, with prices unchanged to one point higher, despite the bullish news from abroad. The indifference of the local trade soon gave way to a bear scare and investment buying, chiefly Summer months, on which prices picked up six to eleven points with August in the lead. For the rest of the session the market displayed marked steadiness and was peculiarly sensitive to buying from any quarter. Shorts covered on any signs of decline and Wall street bought the late months of bad crop news. The weekly government crop report was quite the worst ever received at this season of the year and did much to hold the market steady. Heavy receipts had been anticipated and played an unimportant part, as an influence. A forecast for warmer and clear weather over the entire belt to-night and to morrow checked new buying in the afternoon, but did not weaken prices. The New Orleans market contributed to the strength here by sending important buying orders. Liverpool bought freely around the open and again near the close. Trading, while more active than yesterday, was comparatively quiet after the burst of buying. The close was steady with prices one to seven points higher.

PLAYTIME CLOTHES.

HOW TO MAKE CHILDREN'S OUTFITS FOR OUTDOOR WEAR.

Suits For Seashore, Mountains and Garden Which Are Meant For Rough and Tumble Use—Overalls For Little Boys and Girls.

[Copyright, 1901, by American Press Association.]

It is only of late years that anything has been done to allow the children to play and yet be able to keep clean. The material of which they are made differs according to circumstances, but probably the best is blue denim. Galatea cloth is also good, but it should be something thick enough to be durable under great stress and so that dust will not penetrate it. Khaki would be good if it were not so dear.

It requires two yards of denim for either of the funny little overalls shown in the illustration. One takes up on the shoulders, and the other is long. They are for boys or girls, but those for girls might be made a little wider. The one for the smaller child has the front gathered at a yoke, and the legs are made very wide and are buttoned at the back like the panties, and are made quite full to allow for the skirt of the dress worn beneath. The other pair is cut to reach the ground and hold up by means of straps over the shoulders.

At the beach it is the custom to let the children run about barefooted and have the "goodest kind" of a time. It is not well to let them go without shoes of some kind, on account of the sharp shells.

The two sailor shaped bathing suits are cut all in one piece so far as the waist and pants are concerned, and many bright mothers take the old pantaloons which are past wearing by the men of the house and cut them into the right shape. An old pair will always have at least three-quarters of good material, and they are just wide enough. To make such a suit, sew the leg part up and then sew the two pieces together from the seat to the neck in the back and to the opening for the head in front. Bind the bottoms and sew a strong elastic under the bottom about an inch above, so that it will form a little ruffle. If cloth is scarce, it is not necessary to make sleeves. A sailor collar may or may not be added.

The suit for the girl differs in no way save that it may be made out of an old dress skirt of almost any kind or color. It will get just as hard usage. The tiny man has a regular bathing dress made out of his big brother's old sweater, washed and with a little red thread run in along the edges of the sleeves and legs.

For children who are to go to the mountains or to the old farm the overalls for the boys are among the necessities. For the girls, even those up to 10 years old, there are special suits, consisting of full Turkish trousers and a blouse waist. The trousers are cut like any pair of other drawers as to the upper part, and the legs are wider and reach almost to the ankles. The hem is then sewed in, and an elastic is run in and fastened so that it will hold them at the knees. Pockets are just as good for girls to have as boys. For a girl of 10 it will require three-quarters of a yard of double width goods or one and a half of single to make these knickerbockers.

The blouse is the old style come to life again. This has really no shape to it, only just enough to bring it to fit around the neck. The sleeves are rather narrow bishop shape and have cuffs. If a sailor collar seems too much trouble for a blouse intended only for rough wear, it may be finished off at the neck with a band and buttoned down the front. A pocket should be set on the outside of this at the left side. At the bottom this blouse is hemmed with rather a wide hem and an elastic or a tape run in to hold it snug. The blouse should be six inches longer than the waist line, so that when it is fastened it falls over and hides the top of the knickerbockers. OLIVE HARPER.

Some Old Time Laws.

One hundred years ago pocket picking was a capital offense where anything worth more than a shilling was taken, for which the offender could be sentenced to death in this country. There were over 200 offenses at that time for which death sentences could be passed. Sir Samuel Romilly, who devoted himself by pamphlet and parliamentary agitation to the amelioration of the criminal law, succeeded after great difficulty in getting pocket picking removed from the list. Very little more than 100 years ago a seaman was hanged for complaining of the quality of the provisions. Seventy men on board the Namen, in Portsmouth harbor, set out for London to lay their complaint as to the provisions before the lords of the admiralty. Fifteen of them procured an audience, but were ordered to be put in irons and carried back to Portsmouth to be tried by court martial for mutiny. They were all sentenced to death, and one was actually hanged, the sentences of the other 14 being remitted. In the sixteenth century death sentences could be passed for malicious tearing or defacing the garments of any person, breaking a bank of a fish pond or cutting down a tree in an orchard.—London Tit-Bits.

Paying For It.

Client—Your fee is exorbitant. It didn't take you a day to do the work.

Lawyer—It is my regular fee. I am not charging you for time, but for the cost of my legal education.

Client—Well, give me a receipt for the cost of your education, so the next fellow won't have to pay for it too.—London Fun.

MAKES WOMEN STRONG

Iowa City, Iowa, August 15, 1900.

My wife was sick for three years. We tried everything without relief and spent much money. Last winter I read one of your Almanacs. My wife tried the Wine of Cardui and four bottles cured her. She attended to all her household duties and loaded and unloaded hay. This medicine gave her strength. Formerly she was weak and could hardly get about but since she has been taking Wine of Cardui she feels stronger than when she was 20 years of age. I would we had heard of Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught years ago. JOSEPH ALOIS EISENHAFER.

No woman has ever taken Wine of Cardui and not been benefited. Mrs. Eisenhafer had tried everything during her three years' sickness and had spent considerable money. She was weak and could hardly get about for three years before she took

WINE OF CARDUI

Now after taking the Wine she can work with her husband in the hay field. That is hard work, but it is not as injurious to a woman's health as labor in stores, factories and offices where thousands of girls are closely confined year after year. With the aid of Wine of Cardui a woman can do any reasonable work and enjoy good health. The health that Wine of Cardui brings makes a woman vigorous in body and mind. Freed from those terrible devastating pains a woman grows well and strong naturally. Wine of Cardui regulates the disordered menstruation and cures leucorrhoea, falling of the womb and periodical pains in the head and back caused by standing or sitting a long time in the same position. Thedford's Black-Draught puts the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys and blood in proper shape. Greatly increased strength and endurance is the natural result. Most cases are cured quickly. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui and 25 cent packages of Thedford's Black-Draught.

Calling the Elements to Order.

Absentmindedness is sometimes amusing and sometimes impressive, and a British statesman recently furnished an instance which has both qualities, for his mistake was due primarily to his serious regard for the business in hand and his concentration upon it.

The man was Sir U. Kay-Shuttleworth, and he was presiding over a parliamentary committee. During the session a heavy thunderstorm came up, which made hearing somewhat difficult. Finally an unusually heavy clap interrupted a speaker, and the chairman, who had been listening intently, seized his gavel, pounded on the table and cried sternly: "Order! Order!"

The Meter.

Mrs. Floodyer—Oh, Mr. Batts, how I enjoyed your lovely volume of poems!

Batts—you're very kind, indeed. Do you like the alcaic meter?

Mrs. Floodyer—Alcaic meter? Oh, I see; you want to change the subject! Modesty's the crown of genius. But really I can't say. Does it save much gas?—Brooklyn Life.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCKLIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, June 4—Lord Kitchener, in a dispatch from Pretoria, dated June 4th, says:

"Dixon's report (of the fighting at Vlakfontein, forty miles from Johannesburg May 29th) just received. On our side 1,450 men, with seven guns were engaged. The force was returning to camp at Vlakfontein when the enemy, under cover of a veldt fire rushed the rear guard consisting of two guns of the 28th battery and 330 men of the Derbyshires and yeomanry. They temporarily captured the two guns. When the remainder of the force came into action the Boers were driven off, the guns were recaptured, and the Boer position was occupied. Our casualties were six officers and fifty-one men killed, six officers and 115 men wounded and one officer and seven men missing. One officer and four men have since died of wounds. Forty-one Boers were killed on the ground. The further Boer casualties are not known. Reinforcements are being sent."

COTTON AND CORN.

Weather Generally Unfavorable—Crops Suffering for Cultivation.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Weather Bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

Practically an entire absence of rain over a large part of the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys has intensified the drought conditions previously existing in these districts, while the greater part of the region extending from the East Gulf coast to the lower lake region and New England suffered further from excessive rains.

On the whole, the week has been very unfavorable to corn, which owing to low temperatures has made very slow growth throughout the principal corn States, damage by cut worms being extensively reported.

Cotton has made very slow growth generally throughout the cotton belt, and is suffering for cultivation in the eastern and over portions of the central districts. Warmth, and in the eastern districts dry weather, is generally needed for cotton.

TRAVELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

Nebraska Awarded the Texas Horns—Tennessee Claimed the Trophy.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

OLD POINT COMFORT, VA, June 4.—The Travellers' Protective Association held two business sessions to-day and brought them to a successful close with a magnificent reception at the Hygeia.

The morning session was taken up with organization preliminaries, the appointment of committees, etc. The principal incident of the afternoon session was the report of the secretary, giving Nebraska the "Texas Horns" for having gained the largest percentage of new members during the year. This is the highest honor the convention can award and is much prized. Tennessee claimed the trophy and entered a vigorous protest, which will be taken before the national board of directors. The most of the afternoon was consumed by the address of the president, report of the secretary, treasurer and other reports. The convention goes to Richmond to morrow.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. The ship lies easy in six fathoms of water. Her crew came ashore in row boats. An immense crowd of Summer visitors gathered along the board walk viewing the unusual spectacle. The steamship was valued at $100,000 and her cargo of cocos, asphalt and sugar was valued at $200,000.

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., June 4.—Eight miners were killed to-day in the seventh level of the Ludington shaft, Chapin mine, by the deadly fumes following an explosion of dynamite. Nearly thirty children were rendered fatherless by the explosion. The disaster was caused by the overheating of a powder thawing machine which set off a quantity of dynamite stored near by. The fumes quickly spread and the men were overcome before they realized their danger.

NO EXTRA SESSION WILL BE CALLED.

President Decides There is No Necessity for Calling Congress This Summer.

THE PHILIPPINE QUESTION.

No Change in the Policy Hitherto Pursued. Full Civil Government is to be Established in the Islands About the First of Next Month.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The cabinet to day unanimously decided that existing conditions do not warrant the calling of an extra session of Congress this Summer. The decision of the cabinet was announced after the cabinet meeting in the following statement issued by Secretary Cortelyou:

"The President has determined that existing conditions do not require or warrant calling Congress together the present Summer or making any change in the policy hitherto pursued and announced in regard to the Philippine islands."

About the first of next month full civil government will be set up in the Philippine islands, exactly as projected by the Philippine commission. As soon after that date as the administrative ministry can be made ready for it the new Philippine tariff will be proclaimed, also following out the original plan formed before the announcement of the decision of the Supreme Court last week. These determinations followed a careful study of the decisions of the court, the result of which were made known at the cabinet meeting to-day. Secretary Root has had little doubt at any time since the court's action of the feasibility of continuing the execution of the Philippine programme without violating any of the principles enunciated by the court, and his study was mainly to make sure that he had not overlooked anything in the decisions that might qualify that belief on his part. He has not found in any of the opinions delivered by the justices anything to shake his original idea, and having so advised the cabinet and that view being shared by the attorney general, the original programme is to be carried out.

As to the legal status of the islands, the officials have nothing to say. They do not indicate whether the tenure is to be regarded as one of purely military or whether they have found in the decisions warrant for taking the Spooner act as quite sufficient in itself to justify the establishment of a purely civil government in the Philippines, accompanied by the taxing power as exhibited in tariff schedules. The general statement is made that the exercise of authority is to be by virtue of the supreme power reposed in the President; it may be as commander-in-chief of the United States military establishment or by virtue of the special designation in the Spooner law; perhaps either would be sufficient.

The collector at San Francisco will go on taking up Dingley duties on imports from the Philippines, for the Cabinet has assured itself that the practice is legal, or at any rate, they are not bound to otherwise declare in the absence of a decision by the highest judicial authority. The failure of the court to announce a decision in the Fourteen Diamond Rings case, the one involving the legality of the imposition of Dingley duties on goods from the Philippines, is regarded as warranting the belief that the court did not find in this case a parallel to the De Lima case.

The report of the Philippine Commission, setting out in vast detail the complete scheme of civil government devised by them, is now in Washington, and the legal difficulty being passed, consideration will now be given to this report. It would not be feasible to notify Judge Taft by mail of his appointment as the first civil governor of the Philippines in time for him to assume office July 1st, so this must be done by cable.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Tragedy in a Tenement House in New York City.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, June 4.—Francisco Alasko, 22 years of age, shot and killed his first cousin, Mrs. Angelina Faia, 27 years of age, in the woman's home to-day, and then committed suicide by shooting himself in the breast. The tragedy occurred in a tenement at 163 Elizabeth street, a poor part of the city. Alasko was in love with the woman.

This morning Faia went out to buy milk and bread for the breakfast. He was gone fifteen minutes, and when he returned to his rooms at a quarter to 6 o'clock he was met at the threshold of his rooms by his daughter, Carmelia, who cried, "Oh, papa, papa, Francisco has shot Mama."

A policeman took Faia and the two children to the station house. The police at first believed that the husband had killed his wife and Alasko in a fit of jealousy. Faia was held a prisoner as a "suspicious person," but his innocence was apparently established by the straightforward story of the tragedy told by his little daughter, Carmelia, who said Alasko had done the shooting.

INTERESTING STATISTICS.

Concerning Trade of Great Britain and United States With Latin-America.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Consul Grinnell, at Manchester, has supplied the State Department with interesting statistics of the trade of Great Britain and the United States respectively in cotton goods in Latin-American countries during the years 1898, 1899 and 1900. The relative trade in question for the three years was 1,784,547,400 yards of cotton goods exported from the United Kingdom and 198,814,799 yards exported from the United States, making a difference in favor of the United Kingdom of 1,585,732,641 yards. The average price was four and one half cents a yard for British goods and five cents a yard for goods from the United States.

EXPELLED FROM THE CHURCH.

Professor George D. Herron is No Longer a Congregationalist.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

DES MOINES, IOWA, June 4.—Geo. D. Herron, former professor of applied christianity, in Iowa College at Grinnell, is no longer a Congregationalist. He was tried by a council of ministers and elders of the church representing eight organizations, sitting at Grinnell to-day, on the charge of "conduct unbecoming a Christian and a gentleman." The council decided that the charges were sustained and voted unanimously to expel him from the church.

CHINA AND THE POWERS.

Plan of a Modus Vivendi On the Subject of the Indemnities Now Receiving Earnest Attention

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The plan of a mous vivendi on the subject of the Chinese indemnities is now receiving the earnest attention of those interested in the Chinese negotiations, the purpose being to prevent this indemnity question from causing any interruption in the concert of the Powers, and at the same time to remove the indemnity issue itself, so that progress can be made on the remaining subjects of negotiation, chief of which is the conclusion of permanent treaties between China and the several Powers. The question over the indemnity arose during the President's Western trip, but since the return of the President and Secretary Hay it has been taken up anew and thoroughly gone over with the foreign representatives chiefly concerned, including the British, Russian and French ambassadors and the Japanese Minister. As a result of the exchanges of the last few days the question has resolved itself to about the following basis:

"There is no further issue as to the total of indemnity, that being agreed upon by all the Powers at $337,000,000. But there remains the question of how this amount shall be paid. The Russian suggestion, which appears to have the approval of a majority of the Powers then unite in giving a joint endorsement, or guaranty, of the payment of them. The desire has been not only to secure the assent of a majority of the Powers is that China issue bonds for the full amount and that all the Powers to this scheme, but the unanimous approval of all of them. This, however, has not been accomplished up to the present time, and it is for this reason that the modus vivendi is now being carried as a possible means of bringing about united action.

The British government is not favorable to the Russian proposition and the British view has taken form in a plan to have China issue her own bonds to the several governments, each government thereafter adopting its own course as to an individual guarantee. The chief difficulty which the United States finds as to a joint guarantee is that the constitution does not authorize the executive to guarantee bonds in the absence of the approval of Congress. As to the attitude of Congress, it has been stated during the negotiations that much doubt existed whether the legislative branch would approve a joint guarantee of such a vast total of bonds. Moreover, the American view has been that four per cent. bonds, as contemplated by Russia, would not be a prudent investment for the United States, since the United States readily sells bonds at 2¼ per cent., whereas Russian four per cent. securities sell at 98 cents on the dollar.

ACCIDENT TO CUP DEFENDER.

Mast On the Constitution Collapsed and Broke Off—One of the Men Was Knocked Overboard.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWPORT, R. I, June 4.—While dashing along in a good wholesale breeze off Brenton's reef lightship this afternoon with three lower sails set, the big hollow steel mast on the Belmont syndicate cup defender Constitution collapsed like a blow-pipe, through the sudden breaking of the starboard and windward spreader. The mast broke off only a few feet below the spreader, about three fifths of the length of the mast above the deck, and as the topmast was carried away at the same time none of the spars except the boom struck the deck, and the latter only hit it light blows, which did not injure the hull at all. None of the sails was torn and all can be used again. Fortunately, three seamen had just come down from the mast-head after taking in the club topsail, but the wreckage shot overboard Second Mate Edward Wilson. He was promptly hauled on board, however, without sustaining anything more than a few bruises.

The Constitution will be taken to Bristol to-morrow morning, where another steel mast is nearly finished. The yacht will be immediately refitted, but it will be probably ten days or two weeks before she is in shape to sail again, so that the races off this port scheduled for June 15th and 17th will have to be postponed.

When the accident occurred the Constitution was going along at a tremendous pace under three lower sails, well heeled over in the breeze. The wind was probably the stiffest she had ever encountered. Suddenly, without the slightest warning, the starboard lower spreader over the end of which run two of the mast head shrouds, made of inch steel wire rope, collapsed or broke off on the mast. This brought the strain on the three remaining steel shrouds which promptly gave way and almost at the same instant the big steel mast began to fall over the port. It went over so gradually that those on deck saw it coming in time to get to windward with the exception of Second Mate Nelson, who was caught in some rigging and went overboard under the big main sail. Fortunately some of the crew saw his predicament and by quick work he was hauled aboard.

The mast collapsed or bent about three-fifths of the way above the deck or a few feet below the lower spreaders which broke. As it went over the topmast shrouds broke the wooden spar in two pieces, one short off at its foot where it enters the top of the mast and again well up the pole toward the top. Part of the topmast was saved but some ten feet of it went drifting out to sea.

A FATAL LEAP.

Man from Jacksonville, Fla., Jumped from Brooklyn Bridge.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 4.—A man leaped to death from the Brooklyn bridge this afternoon. Many people saw him jump. He had an American flag in each hand. His body was recovered. The man appears to have been Robert G. Bidwell, of 1425 East Adams street, Jacksonville, Fla. Several letters were found on the body. One was addressed to R. R. Champlain, this city.

Mrs. Turner, mother of William Turner, of New York city, said Bidwell was her nephew. He, his mother, a widow, and two sisters live in Washington. She said the father of the family was one of the most prominent orange growers in Florida. The family is wealthy. Mrs. Turner said Bidwell came to the city a week ago to pay them a visit. "He called on us twice," she said, "to take tea and each time it seemed as if his actions were strange. I cannot account for his jump off the bridge unless he was crazy."

The information received at the strike headquarters of the Southern Railway at Knoxville yesterday was to the effect that all who struck are still out. Strike Director Wm. Hall is in Selma, Ala.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON THE SOUTHERN

Three Passengers Killed and Sixteen Others Injured, Three Perhaps Fatally.

NEAR THE CITY OF ATLANTA

A Switch Engine Dashed Into Rear of a Moving Train—Employe of Southern Arrested On Suspicion of Having Caused the Collision.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, GA., June 4.—A switch engine in the yards of the Southern Railway shops, near the city limits, dashed into a passenger train as it was passing to day, killing three passengers and injuring sixteen, three of them it is feared fatally.

The dead are—Mrs. A. Lemmon, of McDonough, Ga.; Irma, ten year old daughter of Mrs. Lemmon; H. H. Vickers, Flovilla, Ga. The injured—Mrs. Julia Kersey, Atlanta, may die; A. F. Hinn, McDonough, Ga., may die; A. F. Fouchee, McDonough, Ga., may die; D. A. George, Rex, Ga; William Richardson, Stockbridge, Ga.; Miss Rosa Withers, Washington, D. C.; Miss Alma Massenburg, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. F. M. Smith, McDonough, Ga.; W. F. Tidwell, McDonough, Ga.; W. E. Tidwell, McDonough, Ga.; Rosa L. Lee, Stockbridge, Ga.; Mrs. J. F. Ridley, Huntsville, Ala.; Mrs. A. F. Bunn, McDonough, Ga.; Miss Bunn, McDonough, Ga.; N. H. Vickers, Flovilla; Pierce Stewart, McDonough, Ga.; young son of Mrs. Lemmon.

Just beyond the Southern shops are the coal chutes and all about these are side tracks. On one of these side tracks and only a few feet from the main track an engine was standing that had only a short time before been abandoned by its engineer and fireman. As the train was passing the junction of this side track, the switch engine suddenly dashed backward into the moving train. The first class day coach was thrown over on its side and partly demolished, the Pullman car "Arcturus" was thrown from the track and one end smashed into kindling wood, while the trucks were knocked from under the combination smoker and passenger coach.

Those killed were in the day coach. Physicians and railroad officials were quickly on the scene. Some of the injured were taken to the hospitals and the dead brought to Atlanta.

Soon after the wreck G. B. Dunlon, an employe of the Southern Railway, was arrested charged with disorderly conduct. This charge was made only that Dunlon might be held. He was really arrested on suspicion of having run the wild engine into the swiftly moving passenger train. Dunlon denies that he had anything to do with the wreck and says he was not on the engine. The Southern officials claim that he was seen to get on the engine and they say further that he had no business there as a yard conductor. Dunlon has several gashes in his head which he admits receiving in the wreck but he maintains that he was not on the engine.

The officials of the Southern soon after the wreck occurred dispatched a special train to McDonough to bring up Mr. Lemmon, whose wife and daughter were killed in the wreck. The father accompanied the bodies back to McDonough this afternoon.

ANGLO-AMERICAN RELATIONS

Mr. Andrew Carnegie's Views—He Believes in Community of the English-Speaking People.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, June 4.—"Mark my words," said Mr. Andrew Carnegie to night to a representative of the Associated Press, "the time is coming when the continental powers will combine to smash up this little island of Great Britain. When that happens, she will have to turn to the United States for help.

"I feel certain it will not be refused. The United States will step in and say 'Don't.' They will act just as Great Britain did in the Spanish-American war. What she did then was great, and it is not half realized yet."

When Mr. Carnegie gave utterance to these sentiments he was in the Langham Hotel, London, where he had arrived from Scotland for the Chamber of Commerce gatherings. Until to-night he had steadfastly refused to be interviewed.

Resuming the topic of Anglo American relations, Mr. Carnegie said: "I believe in the community of the English speaking races, by which I mean that the Americans and British are now closer than ever before. Could you get a better instance than the visit of the delegates of the New York Chamber of Commerce to Windsor last Saturday? I suggested it, and King Edward took up the idea thoroughly. It was a fitting commencement of the new reign.

"I know how deeply interested King Edward is in the United States. I have known this since the time, years ago, when I drove him on a locomotive in the United States, which, by the way, he did not forget when we met under different conditions.

"The idea that the visit of our delegates to Windsor can be in any way construed as King Edward's recognition of American commercial superiority is all nonsense. The King is full of tact and of friendship for our country."

"Do you think," Mr. Carnegie was asked, "that British enterprises can be sufficiently stimulated to meet American competition."

"Oh, they can't compete with us," replied Mr. Carnegie with a smile.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Two Men Arrested in Establishments Raided by Justice Jerome.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Edward Hayes and Bernard Miles were bound over to the grand jury this afternoon by Justice Jerome on charges of alleged connection with the establishments raided at 48 New street and 52 Broad street. Hayes was held in $1500 bond on one charge and $1000 on the other. Miles was held in $1500 bond.

In passing on the cases Justice Jerome said: "I wish that the principals in those establishments could be brought to justice instead of you poor fellows who were only subordinates, yet were made to carry the burdens of punishment. It seems to me that if I were a policeman I would do something. A man whom they say they cannot find, is openly racing his horses every day at Morris Park and Gravesend, yet he eludes the police."

CLAYTON-BULWER TREATY.

Record of the Assent of Nicaragua Discovered at Managua.

[Correspondence of Associated Press]

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, May 16.—A record of the assent of the Nicaragua Congress in 1853 to the Clayton-Bulwer treaty of 1859, has been discovered in the archives of the palacio Naconal Managua. Senator Morgan, of Alabama, in his speech in the United States Senate March 6th and 7th, 1901, said the Clayton-Bulwer treaty did not have the consent of Costa Rica or Nicaragua. Public notice of Nicaragua's assent was not communicated to the State Department at Washington because, at that time diplomatic relations with Nicaragua were indirect and irregular. The assent was evidently given in the belief that it would be satisfactory to the United States and that Great Britain would abandon her claim to the Mosquito territory.

The quality in a Hanan Shoe never changes. The very best grades of stock—the most skilled workmen. Never in the half a hundred years of their shoemaking career have Hanan & Son sought to lessen the cost of production by lessening the worth of their production.

The never failing superiority is what its legion of patrons like. It's worth the little more you pay. Hanan Shoes are not high priced—THEY ARE BEST.

As the sole agents here we've a complete stock of the Spring shapes in all the new leathers.
